Thiran Invites CAs, CSs and Other Professionals to Join as Volunteer Advisors

Building the right foundation today so that Thiran can grow responsibly tomorrow

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

9 October 2026 – Thiran Private Limited, the student-founded technology and education company incorporated in March 2026, today announced an open call for experienced Chartered Accountants (CA) and Company Secretaries (CS), as well as legal advisors, business mentors and other professionals, to serve the company in a voluntary, honorary advisory capacity.

Thiran is built and run by a 19-member team of students and young professionals working across Tech, Product, Marketing, Operations, Management and Legal. With its flagship product NextStep AI, its web agency Thiran LaunchLab, and further products in the pipeline, the company is growing steadily, and its responsibilities are growing with it.

> "As Thiran grows, we want to do everything right, and we know we cannot do that alone. We are a team of students with big ambitions, and we would be grateful for the guidance of professionals who believe in young builders. Our promise is to be disciplined, transparent and respectful of your time."

RATIONALE FOR INVITING PROFESSIONAL VOLUNTEERS

1. The Current Need

As Thiran continues to develop its products, services, business initiatives and organizational structure, the company must address responsibilities beyond product development and daily operations. These include financial management, taxation, corporate compliance, legal documentation, contractual obligations, business planning and organizational governance.

The Management recognizes that our team may not possess all the specialized knowledge required to handle every such responsibility independently. Relying solely on internal understanding without appropriate professional guidance could lead to avoidable mistakes, financial risks, compliance gaps and difficulties as the organization expands.

2. Why We Are Calling for CAs, CSs and Other Professionals

Thiran intends to connect with qualified professionals who are willing to contribute their knowledge, guidance and expertise on a voluntary basis, subject to mutually agreed terms. The primary objectives are:

- Financial Responsibility: Establish reliable accounting practices, understand applicable taxation requirements, maintain financial records, and improve financial decision-making.
- Corporate Compliance: Understand the legal obligations applicable to Thiran's organizational structure and ensure that required filings, records and procedures are handled appropriately.
- Legal Protection: Obtain guidance on contracts, intellectual property, confidentiality, client agreements and other relevant legal matters.
- Business Sustainability: Improve budgeting, pricing, revenue planning, risk assessment and long-term financial sustainability.
- Professional Governance: Build transparent systems, appropriate documentation, accountability and structured decision-making processes.
- Knowledge Development: Enable the internal team to learn from experienced professionals rather than making important decisions without sufficient expertise.
- Responsible Growth: Prepare Thiran to handle increasing business activities, clients, partnerships, projects and operational responsibilities.

3. Why Other Professional Positions May Be Required

Depending on the organization's needs, Thiran may also seek voluntary guidance from legal advisors, business mentors, financial planners, HR professionals, marketing strategists, technology experts and other specialists. These individuals can help identify gaps, improve internal processes, evaluate risks, and provide guidance in areas where the organization needs additional expertise.

4. Why a Volunteer Model?

At this stage of Thiran's growth, engaging every professional on a paid, full-time basis may not be financially practical. A voluntary advisory model allows the organization to access valuable professional guidance while managing its limited resources responsibly.

This is an invitation to professionals who are genuinely interested in supporting an emerging organization. Their time, expertise and contribution will be respected, and the scope of their involvement will be discussed transparently.

The voluntary arrangement will not replace any mandatory paid professional engagement, statutory appointment or independent service required by law. Any regulated or formal professional work will be handled in accordance with applicable requirements.

WHERE A CA / CS CAN HELP

Areas where volunteer support would be most valuable include:

Area	How a volunteer can help
Corporate compliance	Guidance on ROC / MCA filings, statutory registers, annual return and financial-statement filing, and maintaining a clean compliance calendar.
Board & governance	Advice on board and general meetings, notices, agendas, minutes and resolutions, and on good corporate-governance practice as the team grows.

Area	How a volunteer can help
Accounts & taxation	Setting up sound bookkeeping, GST, TDS and income-tax practices, and reviewing how our books are maintained.
Startup & funding readiness	Guidance on startup recognition and available schemes, shareholding and cap-table hygiene, and preparing the company for future investor due diligence.
Agreements & policies	Reviewing key documents such as founder, contributor and client agreements, and internal policies, from a compliance point of view.
Mentorship	Occasional sessions with our student founders and team on financial literacy, compliance basics and building a company the right way.

WHO CAN APPLY

- Practising or non-practising members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) or the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI).
- Legal advisors, business mentors, financial planners, HR professionals, marketing strategists, technology experts and other specialists who wish to support an emerging organization.
- Professionals with experience in startups, private limited companies, MSMEs, or education and technology businesses are especially welcome.
- Senior CA / CS students and recently qualified members who are keen to mentor and gain startup exposure are also encouraged to write to us.

TIME COMMITMENT

Thiran respects the demands on a professional's time. The commitment is flexible and is expected to be light: a short introductory discussion, occasional advisory calls or messages as the need arises, and a periodic review of key milestones. Volunteers decide how much they are able to contribute.

WHAT THIRAN OFFERS IN RETURN

- Public acknowledgement of your contribution on Thiran's official platforms, subject to your consent.
- A formal letter of appreciation and recognition as an Honorary Advisor.
- The opportunity to shape a young company from its earliest stage and to mentor its student founders.
- An association with a growing community of student builders and with Thiran's mission in education.

TERMS OF THE ENGAGEMENT

This is an unpaid, voluntary role and does not constitute employment or a retainer. Any paid professional engagement needed in future would be made separately and by mutual written agreement. Volunteers will be asked to treat all non-public company information as confidential, and Thiran will keep any information shared by volunteers confidential in return.

OUR LONG-TERM VISION

Thiran does not want to grow merely in terms of team size, products or revenue. We want to build an organization that understands its responsibilities, maintains professional standards, manages risks and creates sustainable opportunities.

As Thiran grows, we aspire to extend support wherever reasonably possible, create opportunities for people, develop meaningful solutions and contribute positively to society. To achieve this vision, we recognize the importance of bringing the right expertise into our journey at the right time.

Our objective is simple: build the right foundation today so that Thiran can grow responsibly tomorrow.
